 - Mandolin Bright - operations director of the Oconee Food Council
 - i. Food sovereignty convening met at the Tamassee DAR school on June 8th.
 - ii. Approval and launch of the Oconee Food Alliance - membership network for anyone in the county to support the work of the food council and have the opportunity to get involved
7. Presentation- Dr. Adam Kantrovich - extension specialist
 - akanthro@clemson.edu, 803-834-0019
 - Agribusiness program team - enterprise budgets, farm financial analysis, market outlook, business and succession planning, women in ag programs, etc.
 - Succession, transition and estate planning

Follow-up Questions:

- Ms. Townsend asked how much the program costs. Dr. Kantrovich stated that a farm analysis typically costs several hundred dollars to cover travel etc. and that the program is ultimately cheaper than going directly through an attorney.

- Ms. Townsend asked Dr. Kantrrovich for Data on the number of family farms in the area that have successfully transitioned through this program. Dr. Kantrrovich stated that data is not available for this.
- Ms. Townsend asked if there are any kind of mentoring transition programs for new farmers who are not family members. Dr. Kantrrovich stated that SC does not have any official mentorship programing.

Other introductions

- Chris Talley - Clemson livestock extension agent
- Matt Fisher - Pickens County, agribusiness agent for upstate SC

8. Discussions [to include vote and/or action on matters brought up in discussion if required]

- Ms. Sewell - Would like to see a farmers forum before the election in November. Have people in the community discuss what our primary agricultural interests are for the county before we vote.

9. Adjourn: Ms. Townsend made a motion to adjourn, seconded by Ms. Sewell and approved 4/0.
